Undergraduate Dual Degree Program Information – Spring 2019

■ Program objective and Outline:

The aim of the program is to enable participants from APU and SUAS to take courses for two years in APU and two years in SUAS (four years in total) to receive the degrees from both universities.

Academic Year	Year	University and Department
2018 AY	First year (1~2 semester)	APU・Department of Asia Pacific Studies
2019 AY	Second year (3~4 semester)	SUAS・Department of Innovation and Management in Tourism (IMT)
2020 AY	Third year (5~6 semester)	SUAS・Department of Innovation and Management in Tourism (IMT)
2021 AY	Fourth year (7~8 semester)	APU・Department of Asia Pacific Studies

It's not easy to receive two degrees in four years. You need to keep you motivated and actively engaged in studies and extra-curricular activities throughout these four years. However, the experience you will gain from this program as a result of your hard efforts will be a great advantage in an increasingly internationalized society in your future.

Those who desire to have a different experience from others by using the language ability, wish to challenge various things in international fields, want to deepen the knowledge in the tourism field, or want to study abroad for more than one year are most welcome to apply for this program!

To those who are thinking of applying for this program,

This program, in which you study in Austria for half of your undergraduate career, will contain a lot of excitement and challenge. You must be well prepared to face numerous struggles. It is very important for you to have strong interest in the field you want to study and identify your future objectives, because this program differs from other exchange programs in terms of receiving two degrees. In classes in Austria, you will have discussions with students there and learn knowledge in your major field together.

In order for that you study in such an environment, you must have enough knowledge in the fields you will study or you are interested in along with your English ability. In preparation, it is important to know the curriculum and the subjects offered by the host institution in advance. In addition, you need to listen to others, think yourself, and convey your opinions theoretically there. Before applying for the program, you are strongly recommended to have these points in mind.

In order to be able to apply for Language Subject (either English or Japanese) Exemption, students must receive a high enough score on one of the language proficiency exams designated by APU while they are on this Program. Students must apply for Language Subject exemption the semester BEFORE they resume their studies at APU. If that student's application is approved, the student will resume their language studies at the next level or a level that is deemed appropriate to fit that student's ability. Additionally, if a student is exempted, then he/she must take an additional amount of General Elective credits to make up for the amount of exempted language credits.

*1. Students must apply for exemption the semester preceding their return to APU. Applications submitted at any other time will not be accepted.
