

2-2. Syllabus

Viewing the Syllabus Online

The syllabus is an important tool for providing students with information on subjects, including the following items:

- Subject / Class Name; Semester offered (Fall / Spring)
- Instructor
- Class outline (course objectives, standards for course completion, teaching methods, method of grade evaluation)
- Requirements for students
- Required readings and further readings

Finding Textbooks and Reading Materials at the Library

Reading materials used for classes and individual study may be viewed or borrowed at the APU Library. The reading materials listed within the syllabus are linked to the RUNNERS Library System, allowing online checks of book availability, placing of reservations and ordering of materials from Ritsumeikan University Library. Additionally, some reference materials may be viewed as E-books.

Searching for and Acquiring Materials

Methods for searching for and getting ahold of materials listed in the syllabus are given below.

1) Textbooks (books that students taking a class are required to purchase) / 2) Further Reading (in the Reserve Corner): The names of textbooks and reference materials available in the Library Reserve Corner are displayed in the syllabus under the “Textbook” and “Further Reading” sections. Names which are linked may be clicked to display the material’s catalogued location and bibliographic information. Please refer to the “Reserve Corner” on the Library website for further information (you may access it using the “Library” link found under “Links” on Campus Terminal). For textbooks and reference materials available in electronic format, “E-Book” will be indicated in the “Comments” section. The E-Book can be accessed from the link shown in the “E-Book & Course-related links” section.

3) Other Materials (not in the Reserve Corner): Reference Materials (magazines, year books / white papers, audiovisual materials, etc.) Other materials introduced by instructors are displayed here. These materials are necessarily available in the library. Please inquire at the Reference Counter concerning availability.

4) E-Book & Course-related links

Materials listed as an “E-book” are not paper books, but rather digital books that may be viewed on a computer or other electronic device. You can open the URL in the browser and view them by clicking the title.

Book Requests

In order to support your studies and research activities, the APU Library selects and adds to the collection in order to provide a rich learning environment and improve your learning experience. Requests can also be made for the purchase of new materials to add to the APU library collection.

Students can request purchase of books that are unavailable at the APU Library. Purchase requests are reviewed and approved in accordance with the APU Library Materials Acquisition Policy and Selection Guidelines. Books and materials purchase of which has been approved take approximately two months to be delivered.
