

Diploma Policy

(1) Colleges

① College of Asia Pacific Studies

To accomplish the educational objectives stipulated in the University Regulations, the College of Asia Pacific Studies has defined graduation requirements as well as the following learning outcomes to be achieved by the time of graduation.

<Graduation Requirements>

To earn a degree students are required to enroll for the designated period and to complete at least 124 credits in accordance with the registration requirements established by the University. Students are divided between Japanese or English as their basis language upon entry and regardless of their language basis, the basic structure for required credits for graduation is that they must complete at least 40 credits of Common Education Subjects (including language education subjects) and at least 62 credits of Major Education Subjects. Additionally, in order for domestic Japanese-basis students to form both a practical ability to function in English which will allow them to be accepted in international society as well as to build their power in multicultural communication, domestic Japanese-basis students shall also be required to earn at least 20 credits in subjects offered in English in order to graduate.

<Learning Outcomes>

- 1) Interest in and understanding of the various issues facing the Asia Pacific region
- 2) Fundamental knowledge of discipline
- 3) Intercultural communication skills
- 4) Global perspectives

② College of International Management

To accomplish the educational objectives stipulated in the University Regulations, the College of International Management has defined graduation requirements as well as the following learning outcomes to be achieved by the time of graduation.

<Graduation Requirements>

To earn a degree students are required to enroll for the designated period and to complete at least 124 credits in accordance with the registration requirements established by the University. Students are divided between Japanese or English as their basis language upon entry and regardless of their language basis, the basic structure for required credits for graduation is that they must complete at least 40 credits of Common Education Subjects (including language education subjects) and at least 62 credits of Major Education Subjects. Additionally, in order for domestic Japanese-basis students to form both a practical ability to function in English which will allow them to be accepted in international society as well as to build their power in multicultural communication, domestic Japanese-basis students shall also be required to earn at least 20 credits in subjects offered in English in order to graduate.

<Learning Outcomes>

- 1) Business ethics
- 2) Fundamental knowledge of discipline
- 3) Intercultural communication skills
- 4) Global perspectives

(2) Graduate Schools

①-1 Master's Program in Asia Pacific Studies

To accomplish the educational objectives stipulated in the University Regulations, the completion requirements along with the learning outcomes to be achieved by the time of completion have been defined for the Graduate School of Asia Pacific Studies, Master's Program in Asia Pacific Studies below.

<Completion Requirements>

To earn a degree students must enroll for the designated period, obtain the number of credits required for completion in accordance with the registration requirements established by the University, and either write a thesis or complete a special project (Research Report) which successfully passes the screening process. The Graduate School of Asia Pacific Studies' Master's Program in Asia Pacific Studies requires students to obtain at least 32 credits for completion. This minimum of 32 credits shall include 4 credits in Core Subjects on the Asia Pacific Region, 4 credits in Seminars and 10 credits in Major Subjects from subjects within the student's affiliated Division. It should be noted that all required subjects must be successfully completed and that Optional Subjects will not be included in the number of credits required for completion. Together with the credits that must be obtained for completion, the results of the student's research in the form of either a thesis or a special project (Research Report) will also be screened and, based on these results successfully passing the screening, the student's completion and degree conferral will be recognized.

<Learning Outcomes>

- 1) Broad knowledge and understanding of the various issues facing the Asia Pacific region
- 2) Advanced knowledge of discipline
- 3) Global perspectives

①-2 Master's Program in International Cooperation Policy

To accomplish the educational objectives stipulated in the University Regulations, the completion requirements along with the learning outcomes to be achieved by the time of completion have been defined for the Graduate School of Asia Pacific Studies, Master's Program in International Cooperation Policy below.

<Completion Requirements>

To earn a degree students must enroll for the designated period, obtain the number of credits required for completion in accordance with the registration requirements established by the University, and either write a thesis or complete a special project (Research Report) which successfully passes the screening process. The Graduate School of Asia Pacific Studies' Master's Program in International Cooperation Policy requires students to obtain at least 32 credits for completion. This minimum of 32 credits shall include 4 credits in Core Subjects on the Asia Pacific Region, 4 credits in Seminars, and 10 credits in Major Subjects from subjects within the student's affiliated Division. It should be noted that all required subjects must be successfully completed and that Optional Subjects will not be included in the number of credits required for completion. Together with the credits that must be obtained for completion, the results of the student's research in the form of either a thesis or a special project (Research Report) will also be screened and, based on these results successfully passing the screening, the student's completion and degree conferral will be recognized.

<Learning Outcomes>

- 1) Broad knowledge and understanding of the various issues facing the Asia Pacific region
- 2) Advanced knowledge of discipline
- 3) Global perspectives

①-3 Doctoral Program in Asia Pacific Studies

To accomplish the educational objectives stipulated in the University Regulations, the completion requirements along with the learning outcomes to be achieved by the time of completion have been defined for the Graduate School of Asia Pacific Studies, Doctoral

Program below.

<Completion Requirements>

To earn a degree students must enroll for the designated period, obtain the number of credits required for completion in accordance with the registration requirements established by the University, and successfully pass a dissertation screening. In the Graduate School of Asia Pacific Studies' Doctoral Program, candidacy for a doctoral degree requires students to obtain 24 credits and successfully pass a doctoral candidacy screening; students who meet these requirements will become doctoral degree candidates and their application for a doctoral degree through the submission of a dissertation will be recognized. Students who obtain the 30 credits required for completion (the required 24 credits obtained for doctoral candidacy are included in these 30 credits) and who successfully pass the dissertation screening will have their completion and degree conferral recognized.

<Learning Outcomes>

- 1) Broad knowledge and understanding of the various issues facing the Asia Pacific region
- 2) Advanced knowledge of discipline
- 3) Ability to perform fundamental research
- 4) Global perspectives

② Graduate School of Management

To accomplish the educational objectives stipulated in the University Regulations, the Graduate School of Management has defined below the completion requirements along with the learning outcomes to be achieved by the time of completion.

<Completion Requirements>

To earn a degree students must enroll for the designated period, obtain the number of credits required for completion in accordance with the registration requirements established by the University, and either write a thesis or complete a special project which successfully passes the screening process. The Graduate School of Management's Master's Program requires students to obtain at least 44 credits for completion. All Required Subjects must be successfully completed and the minimum of 44 credits shall include 8 credits in Specialization Subjects. It should be noted that Elective Subjects will not be included in the number of credits required for completion. Together with the credits that must be obtained for completion, the results of the student's research in the form of either a thesis or a special project (Final Report or Case Study) will also be screened and, based on these results successfully passing the screening, the student's completion and degree conferral will be recognized.

<Learning Outcomes>

- 1) Business ethics
- 2) Advanced knowledge of discipline
- 3) Sense of innovation
- 4) Global perspectives