

12 Area and Capacity of Student Laboratories in Each College and Graduate School

(Table 29)

Name of Room for Specific Use	Number of Rooms	Total Area (m ²)	Capacity (Total Number)	Average Area per User (m ²)	College, Graduate School or Other Body	Remarks
Information Processing Seminar Room	9	1,877.6	630	3.0	Common Facilities	3F, D Building and 1F, F II Building [Relisting]
CAI Classrooms	21	1,424.0	525	2.7	Common Facilities	3F, D Building and 2F, F II Building [Relisting]
Academic Laboratory	1	232.2	65	3.6	CAP *1	2F, B II Building [Relisting]
ICT Lab (BII Bldg., 2F)	1	113.5	24	4.7	CAP	2F, B II Building [Relisting]
ICT Lab (BII Bldg., 3F)	6	131.5	36	3.7	CAP	3F, B II Building [Relisting]
Biochemistry Lab	1	70.2	24	2.9	CAP	1F, D Building [Relisting]
Physics Lab	1	70.2	24	2.9	CAP	1F, D Building [Relisting]
HLS Lab *2	7	168.0	42	4.0	CAP	3F, F Building [Relisting]
Total	47	4,087.2	1,370	3.0

Notes:

- In principle, compile this table for each college/graduate school.
- In the "Name of Room for Specific Use" column, list names that specifically describe what the facility is used for.
- In instances where relevant facilities are used by multiple colleges and graduate schools or jointly used by affiliated junior colleges, enter the names of all colleges etc. concerned into the "College, Graduate School or Other Body" column. Do not list the same facility more than once in the above table.
- Enter foreign language facilities, facilities for information processing, audio-video rooms, and other audio-visual classroom facilities in this table.
- If facilities are used for liberal arts education, indicate as such when entering data into the "College, graduate school or other body" column.
- Even if the facilities are equipped to be used as laboratories, if the main use of the facilities are as lecture halls and seminar rooms, include them as lecture rooms/seminar rooms in the previous table, "The Area and Capacity of Lecture Halls and Seminar Rooms in Each College and Graduate School". In such cases, enter those facilities into this table with the word "Relisting" in the "Remarks" column.

[University Notes]

- *1 CAP (Crossover Advanced Program) is a program which integrates academic fields in both College of Asia Pacific Studies and College of International Management and provides advanced research contents to nurture leaders from the perspective of connection to graduate schools.
- *2 HLS stands for Health, Environment and Life Science Institute.