

Call for Presenters
Undergraduates Research Symposium in the AP Conference

A panel session and a poster session will be set up at the AP Conference (November 11-12, 2017) for undergraduate students from APU and other universities. It is expected that students will actively look for opportunities to write internationally viable academic papers and produce world class research results in Asia Pacific Studies.

Eligibility	Undergraduate students at APU or other universities (3 rd or 4 th year preferable)
How to Apply	Send your abstract for screening together with your application information through this website. Abstracts should be between 200 to 300 words. Screening is conducted on a rolling basis. Only one abstract may be submitted per person. The AP Conference does not accept applications for online presentations via Skype, etc. The submission deadline is strictly observed. http://en.apu.ac.jp/rcaps/page/content0113.html/
Language	English or Japanese There will be an English panel and a Japanese panel. The poster session will include both English and Japanese.
Abstract Submission Deadline	June 30 (Fri), 2017 Screening is conducted on a rolling basis. When the number of participants has reached capacity, we will stop accepting applications.
Screening	The RCAPS Steering Committee will conduct screening and assign applicants to a panel session or a poster session. Abstracts that do not meet quality standards may be rejected. Requests for particular sessions or dates will not be accommodated.
Registration Fee	JPY 5,000 (Student) The acceptance notice will include instructions for payment of the registration fee. This registration fee includes lunch and dinner during the conference. APU faculty and current student presenters will be exempt from the registration fee.
Announcement	Mid August (Result will be informed by Email.)

【Inquiry】Research Office
apconf@apu.ac.jp