Characteristics of programs in each language

[Korean]

This program is a short-term training program offered by Korea University.

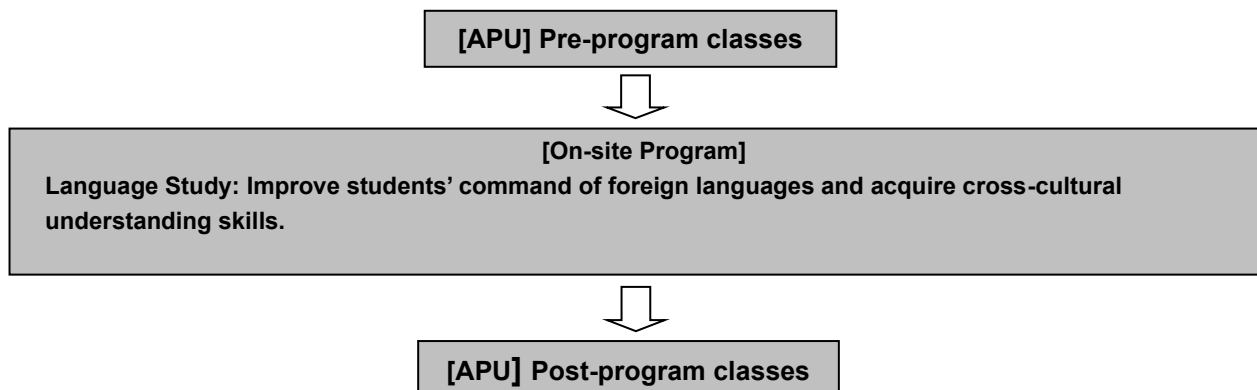

Before the program begins, a placement test will be conducted, and based on the results, participants will be placed in classes according to their proficiency level. This ensures that all participants can attend classes suited to their individual levels.

In addition to Korean language classes, the program includes cultural classes and fieldwork. It aims not only to improve participants' Korean language skills but also to deepen their understanding of Korean society and culture.

[Chinese]

This program will be a 3-week short-term Spanish language study abroad program. The Spanish as a Foreign Language (E/LE) curriculum at the Centro de Lenguas Modernas (Granada University) is articulated around a global and inclusive vision of student training, through classes and activities trying to foster both their communicative competence in Spanish and their personal development.

Program Overview

Language Immersion Program Objectives

- (1) Language Immersion Programs serve to complement APU's curricular Language Education Subjects and aim to strengthen students' proficiency in the target language through intensive language training in the country/region in which it is used.

This also serves as an opportunity for the participant to think deeply about the connection between language and their area of specialization in terms of study/research.
- (3) Students will improve their ability to respect other cultures and work toward mutual understanding through exchange with students and citizens of the program country/region.
